Magmic Connects BlackBerry Gamers through Exit Games Multiplayer Platform Neutron 3.0

Ottawa and San Francisco - June 4, 2006

Magmic Games, a developer and publisher of games for BlackBerry® from Research In Motion (RIM) (NASDAQ: RIMM), has signed a multi-title deal to power its network-connected mobile games on Exit Games Neutron 3.0 multiplayer solution.

The partnership with Exit Games will provide Magmic with multiplayer and network-connected features that will help unite its existing BlackBerry and mobile phone-based gaming communities on common ground. After a successful launch with Java® and BREW® carriers in North and South America, EMEA and APAC, the newly released version -- Exit Games Neutron 3.0 -- allows Exit Games to connect mobile game users on a global scale.

“With an extensive games catalogue for BlackBerry and other mobile devices, as well as a commitment to providing connected features to their customers, Magmic is the perfect fit for our Neutron platform. We are very excited to enter this cooperation with such a highly regarded development studio” said Tom Sperry, CEO of Exit Games USA.

“Exit Games superior ability to unify our gaming community and enhance our multiplayer features have made this partnership a very important go forward strategy for Magmic Games,” explained John Criswick, CEO of Magmic Games.
